The EVO_EVOEVOEVOE_v574 backtest on TSLA produced a single trade with zero wins, yielding a -3.15% ROI and a -0.09 Sharpe ratio against a 15.69% drawdown. This lone trade sample offers no statistical confidence to validate the strategy, rendering the negative returns indistinguishable from random noise rather than systematic failure. The bot failed to generate an entry signal or exit within the test window, highlighting a potential overfitting issue or flawed logic in the entry conditions. Next, recalibrate the entry thresholds by widening volatility filters and re-run the backtest with a larger historical dataset to ensure robustness before deployment.
