ANALYST NOTE

Hera local LLM

The EVO_GG1RSISNIP_v144 backtest on AMD shows a +87.88% return, but the statistical validity is critically low due to only two executed trades. A win rate of 50.0% and a max drawdown of 26.05% suggest high volatility without sufficient sample size to confirm robustness. The high Sharpe ratio of 1.61 is misleading in this context, as it cannot be reliably calculated from such sparse data. Immediate next steps should include expanding the backtest period to at least 100 trades or adjusting entry filters to capture more market opportunities.
