ANALYST NOTE

Hera local LLM

The SKY/USD TS-Momentum backtest shows a positive 6.56% ROI, but the Sharpe ratio of 0.40 and 50% win rate indicate weak signal differentiation. With only two trades, statistical confidence is negligible, rendering the 29.08% maximum drawdown statistically insignificant and unrepresentative of live performance. The strategy likely lacks sufficient filtering to avoid overfitting to noise rather than capturing genuine market inefficiencies. A concrete next step is to run a robustness test by varying the lookback period and volatility filter to see if the edge persists across different market regimes.
